Three different narrators tell the story of Invisible, a novel that travels in time from 1967 to 2007 and moves from New York to Paris to a remote island in the Caribbean. When twenty-year old Adam Walker, an aspiring poet and student at Columbia University, meets the enigmatic Frenchman, Rudolf Bron, and his silent and seductive girlfriend, Margot, he is unaware of the shocking act of violence that is hidden just around the corner and will alter the whole course of his life. Paul Auster's fifteenth novel is a work of unforgettable power.
